FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
February 20, 2014

Navajo Nation Human Rights Commission public hearings on Violence against women and the LGBTQ coming to a close.

ST. MICHAELS, NAVAJO NATION- The Navajo Nation Human Rights Commission office held its final public hearing in Shiprock, NM on February 19, 2014. The reason NNHRC held public hearings was to assess the nature of violence against women and the LGBTQ.

From these public hearings, the NNHRC came to the conclusion that a Data Summit needs to be held among Navajo departments, public and private organizations to clearly show what numbers of committed violent acts toward Navajo women and the LGBTQ.

The Navajo Nation Human Rights Commission is still accepting written testimonies but must be submitted no later than March 7, 2014 in regards of gender discrimination and violence against women and LGBTQ. Written testimonies can be mailed to:
